FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is ABA and how does it work?

Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA) is a system of autism treatment based on behaviorist theories which, simply put, state that desired behaviors can be taught through a system of rewards and consequences. ABA can be thought of as applying behavioral principles to behavioral goals and carefully measuring the results.

What is therapeutic foster care?

Treatment foster care (TFC), also called therapeutic foster care, is out-of-home care by foster parents with specialized training to care for a wide variety of children and adolescents, usually those with significant emotional, behavioral, or social issues or medical needs.

What is FASD?

Fetal alcohol spectrum disorder (FASD) is caused by prenatal alcohol exposure. Each child will exhibit symptoms differently, depending on how it affects them.

There is the potential for delays in motor skills, learning, memory, language skills, emotional development, and more. It is important to determine if it is FASD or if it is another condition augmenting these symptoms. If it is FASD, the level of severity must also be determined.

What is OT?

Pediatric occupational therapy helps children gain independence while also strengthening the development of fine motor skills, sensory motor skills, and visual motor skills that children need to function and socialize.

What is speech therapy?

Speech therapy is treatment for problems with speaking, language, and swallowing. It is given by a speech therapist, also called a speech-language pathologist. Speech therapy helps with using the voice properly and using the muscles to make the right sounds. It helps people understand language and express themselves.
